FOREWORD

It has been said that the strength of a nation can be gauged from an examination of its schools. Using this as a basis, we have every reason to be confident of our nation's strength.

We have seen our basic curricula changed; we have seen our students limpingly move about our walls after physical fitness classes; and we have seen our students invest $150,000 in their country.

This yearbook attempts to picture some of these changes. The yearbook itself has changed; has become smaller, and yet we hope that it gives a picture of these changes.

ADMINISTRATION

My greetings and best wishes to the members of the graduating classes of January and June. I hope you have enjoyed your journey through Northwestern as much as we have enjoyed having you with us. May you continue to prosper, to grow mentally and morally, and always remember that great men and women of history were those who did little things exceedingly well.

C. G. Burns

The annual combines the efforts of teachers and pupils in the fields of art, literary composition, advertising, and sales, and only the harmonious coordination of all can result in a book of superior quality. My greetings and best wishes to the graduates of the January and June, 1943, classes. My compliments to the faculty sponsors and to the staff members whose efforts have made this yearbook possible.

MISS ORTH MISS FOX MISS VYN MISS DOHERTY

The war has made it necessary for counselors to readjust their own thought quickly and to assimilate reams of information on the entrance requirements of the various branches of the armed services. Since the upper classmen are now required to take pre-induction courses and physical fitness, every pupil's program had to be replanned. We are trying to accelerate the programs of those qualified and to plan boys' programs so that, if possible, they can be graduated before being drafted. We work hard and long on the various war projects. Above all we are trying to help the students solve the many new problems with which they are confronted and to keep ever before them the fact that, though they have many immediate needs to meet, they are still preparing themselves for the many years ahead of them when peace has come again.

Vera Fox.

On this page appear the pictures of the editors of the 1943 Norwester.

Al Schaufelberger, Don Schwalm, and Jim Reason wore deeper the well-marked "Norwester Trail", trekking from the beauties at Craine's to the engraver's and the printer's establishments, all the while concerned with weighty matters, such as dummys, deadlines, halftones, and that blond at Craine's.

Pat Butler went quietly crazy trying to meet the various deadlines, while Margaret Kaplanian headed the typists who turned almost incomprehensible hen tracks into clear legible copy.

Nick Kantgias did a remarkable job of meeting the need for greater sales, and Shirley McDonald headed the group that brought in over $200 worth of advertisements.

Too much credit cannot be given to the art editors, Betty Metzger and Betty Starr, for art work that truly and effectively expresses the theme of this year's Norwester.

RADIO DRAMATICS CLUB

Almost daily, heart-broken sobs, shrieks, gunshots, and cries of "Murder" issue from the broadcasting room, all attributable to the Radio Dramatics Club in their efforts to learn the uses and techniques of broadcasting. If a teacher desires a portion of her course dramatized, she simply calls upon the Radio Dramatics Club; and, presto! it is done.

The fall term officers were Mary Kramer, president; Berta Mae Anderson, vice-president; Virginia Moore, secretary; and Bill Hollingsworth, treasurer. Spring term officers were Bill Hollingsworth, president; Virginia Moore, vice-president; Pat Butler, secretary; James Reason, treasurer; and Jack Cole, publicity manager. Record announcers were Pat Butler, Jim Reason and Bill Hollingsworth. Specialty broadcasts were handled by Kay Manders and Virginia Moore. Mr. Raymond Ford was sponsor.

DEBATE CLUB

RESOLVED: "The eye of a potato is more useful than the hole in a doughnut". . . . But it wasn't all comedy in the Debate Club. Much time was spent considering "the pros and cons" of present day political problems. Not only was the post-war era definitely settled, but "Dutch treats" were pronounced correct and entirely honorable.

The fall term officers were Christine Ward, president; Louis Calfin, vice-president; and Berta Mae Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Spring term officers were Jack Cole, president; Dorothy Benish, vice-president; and Elaine Baker, secretary-treasurer.

The Club is proud of its many members who annually graduate with honor diplomas and of its eight members who belong to the National Honor Society. Mrs. Hulbert is sponsor.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club enjoyed "fun-a-plenty" during the 1942-43 school year. This group of approximately fifteen students, under the sponsorship of Miss Bogenrieder, planned many outings, such as skating parties, picnics and canoeing trips. While these friendly get-to-gethers served to promote good fellowship, the Club exists primarily to promote an interest in the Germany which existed before the establishment of the present Nazi government.

During the fall semester, the president was Barbara Newman; Van Valkenburg was vice-president; Betty Stark, secretary, and Ed Durenberg, treasurer. In January, Betty Stark became president. She was aided by Larry Daly, vice-president; Ed Durrenberg, secretary; and Werner Fink, treasurer.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club is a busy, bustling group which brought Pan-Americanism and Spanish culture before the students of Northwestern. Reorganized under the sponsorship of Mr. Migdal, the Club became a chapter of the Metropolitan Pan-American Spanish Clubs, and in June, played host to representatives of other clubs of this larger organization.

Club meetings centered on round-table discussions and the production of short plays designed to spread Spanish culture. Many Spanish songs were also learned and sung. President Shirley Van Dyke led the meetings and was assisted by Vice-President Carl Farrar. Georgia Newell wrote the minutes, and Mary Kaprilian kept track of the treasury.

"A" BAND

Northwestern's Band set up for itself the task of strengthening its reputation as a school organization. Under the directorship of Mr. H. Wood, it successfully accomplished this and proved it at our annual Spring Concert. The timely slogan for the 1943 Concert was "Music for Victory." Selected from the band was a super clarinet quartet, consisting of Margie Thomson, Christine Patridis, Jerry Cook, and Jim Miller, which has participated in programs over WXYZ, concerts for the USO, and is now entered in a contest sponsored by the National Music Conference.

The entire band marched out on the football fields and succeeded in adding inspiring music and color to the gay scene. Aside from gaining good experience at practices, the members had many fine times on the side.

ORCHESTRA

The slogan of the orchestra is "Music for every child and every child for music." Mr. H. Wood, the director, has tried to give the forty-two members a fundamental knowledge of musical literature, both classical and modern.

The orchestra plays for activities of all kinds, graduation exercises for day and night school, patriotic gatherings, Christmas and Easter concerts, and assemblies. The Ensemble group, picked from the members of the A orchestra, has played for radio programs, assemblies, and house programs. There is no attempt to produce professional players, but merely to give the students the opportunity to enjoy good music. The students with exceptional talent, however, are encouraged in their ability.

G. A. A.

Every girl on the campus is a member of the Girls' Athletic Association, governed by an Executive Board of the captains of all girls' athletic teams and three representatives from each grade-room. Under the presidency of Jeanne Proctor, all Houses were kept informed of sporting events and other items of athletic concern. Jeanne was assisted by Bette Dorr, vice-president; Edna Hartman, secretary; and Elaine Baker, treasurer. Mrs. Mildred Dunn was faculty sponsor.

Naturally, disappointment followed the cancellation of the traditional banquet, the awarding of plaques, and the installation of officers; but we understood,—rationing. Compensation came with the successful G. A. A.-"N" Club Dance. Today, particularly, we are proud of this organization which typifies the ideals of physical fitness so necessary in America.

"N" CLUB

Northwestern's new lettermen were again initiated amidst much blood and gore. In addition to this very gruesome initiation, the "N" Club held its traditional outing. Together with the G.A.A., it sponsored the Girls' vs. Boys' Basketball Game and the G.A.A.—"N" Club Dance, both of which were great successes.

The officers for the fall term were Jack Parker, president; Frank Bielman, vice-president; George Kuhn, secretary; and Bob Edmondson, treasurer. Spring term officers were Frank Bielman, president; Jack Parker, vice-president; James Timm, secretary; and Bob Hill, treasurer. Coach James Demaree is the sponsor.

HELLENIC CLUB

The purpose of the Hellenic is to unite students of Greek descent with other students who are interested in Greek culture, tradition and customs.

This term, because most of the members are employed after school, the club has had but few meetings; however, a party is being planned to complete the term and the election of officers will take place at this time.

Officers for the term are: Archon, Minerva Chalapis; vice-Archon, Mary Syrios; Scribe, Mary Ann Timmins; Strategus, John Bageris.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club, known as "Comitia Romana" to Latin students, is the popular language club which sponsored the Pan-linguistic Festival during the Christmas season. It was organized to enable Latin students to become better acquainted with each other and to promote a lasting interest in Roman culture.

Officers for the fall term were Jordan Drews, president; Patricia Butler, vice-president; Jean Eubank, secretary-treasurer; Lucille Richardson, program chairman; and Louise Tandy, entertainment chairman. Spring term officers were Louise Tandy, president; Lucille Richardson, vice-president; Georgia Newell, secretary; Emanuel Isaacs, treasurer; William Baxter, program chairman; and Betty Baker, entertainment chairman. Miss I. Black is the faculty sponsor.

First Row: M. Zordges, Miss Bogenrieder, M. Chalapis, M. Syrios, M. Drallos, Second Row: A. Christian, B. Christopher, A. Papastephanon, S. Balaskas, E. Panayotidas, I. Mossontte. Third Row: E. Daskalakis, C. Canters, J. Kokones, N. Pappas, J. Coobatis.

L I B R A R Y S T A F F

"Who is the Allied general in charge of North African operations?" asks the forlorn student, or, "What is the Ruml Plan?" For such demands, the Library Staff has expanded its clipping files to include a War Information Center with specific war folders.

The staff members report for duty one period each day, each having his own assigned task to perform. Under the direction of Miss Winton and Mrs. Murdoch, two and a half hours' credit are given to those who fulfill all requirements. Here is one group who are faithfully on the job ten hours a day, helping find reference material and pleasure reading, and offering assistance to students and faculty members alike.

R. O. T. C. R I F L E T E A M

Northwestern's R.O.T.C. Rifle Team is one of the best in Michigan. For years it has consistently ranked among the first ten in Sixth Corps Area Matches. Its primary purpose is to provide a means of improving marksmanship and of sustaining interest in rifle firing. Teamwork and good sportsmanship are also developed.

The members of the Team are Richard Wood, Bruce Mayer, Clifford Holforty, Jack Taylor, Benjamin Wright and Andrew Weeks. Like teams before them, this team has won championships. These boys are 1st Regiment Champions and rank fourth in city competition. These honors are won by competition between schools, in the Hearst Trophy Matches, and Sixth Corps Area competition. The boys owe much to the brilliant command of Sgt. Rocco Bonelli, United States Army.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

Under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Wagoner, and accompanied by Mr. W. Fox, the A Capella Choir established an enviable record for the year. Not only did they contribute to our general assemblies, broadcast over the public address system, give concerts, carol in the halls at Christmas time, and sing at all graduation exercises, but were guests of the Northwestern Women's Club, Kiwanis Club, and the Requiem at the Masonic Temple, singing with the All City Chorus and the combined choirs of Wayne University.

Officers for the fall term were Rhoda Henery, president; Louise Tandy, vice-president; Frances Phelps, secretary; and Gordon Pickering, treasurer. Officers for the spring term were Louise Tandy, president; Muriel Fuller, secretary; and Lucille Turner, treasurer.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

The Modern Dance Club, sponsored by Mrs. Carty, meets each Tuesday. This select group of graceful, rhythmic figures have highly developed senses of balance, imagination and rhythm which enable them to create interesting compositions and patterns in movement. The Club always contributes its talents to Northwestern's annual musical concerts and is already planning new dances for next year. Our School takes pride in the Dance Club and welcomes its bewitching entertainment.

Officers for the year were Martha Weinert, president; and Elaine Baker, secretary.

INFORMATION COUNCIL

Last fall, two of the school's hardest working and most valuable organizations were merged into one, with identical officers and the same sponsor, Miss Lydia E. Holtman. These are the Information Council and the Service Club. Now, before a student can hope for an assignment at the information desk, he must have served at least one semester learning the rules of the corridors as a guard on hall duty.

In addition to the most obvious work of the organization, namely the dispensing of information at the desk, the duties of the Council are varied: selling Northwestern book-covers and stickers, football, track, swimming and basketball tickets, arranging the showcases in the halls, making the 10-B's feel at home when first they arrive here, dispensing general information, and answering countless sane and inane questions, being but a few.

SERVICE CLUB

Meetings were held in the auditorium throughout the year, in which good will and co-operation were stressed. At these meetings outstanding members were awarded their hard earned Service Club pins.

This year a new system was put into effect whereby deserving members received one hour's credit.

The officers were president, C. Butler; vice-president, Jane Logan; secretary, Helen Cudmore. Miss Lydia Holtman is the faculty sponsor and ex-president. Jack Cole is the student counselor.

Fall officers were president, Jack Cole; vice-president, Jordan Drews; secretary, Pat Butler; recording clerks, J. Blair, H. Cudmore.

C O L T S T A F F

"Say, when's the next basketball game?" "How'd the Student Council election turn out?" To such queries, smart students around Northwestern answer, "Read 'The Colt'."

For twenty-seven years "The Colt" has appeared regularly as the official news organ of the student body. Articles are assigned and rated by points according to their quality. The editorship, held this year by Marguerite Brauer, is an honorary position being awarded in recognition of work well done. Associate editors for the spring and fall terms respectively were Florence Picking and Agnes Moon. Mr. A. B. Keenan is the faculty sponsor.

P. A. R. C L U B

One of the most indispensible clubs in School is the P.A.R. Club. This group of technicians in training make themselves useful in many ways. Some of their varied duties are handling all movies, all radio programs, all record announcements, staging programs, and supervising the technical part of all graduation exercises. In the title of this organization, the P stands for projection, A for auditorium, and R for radio. Because of the fact that both of its chief technicians were called into the Armed Services, the Club is now supervised by eleven students, two of whom are girls. Stanley Stoyanoff is student manager, and Mr. Austin Cline is faculty sponsor.

First Row: S. Hird, E. Knezer, J. Billington, M. Brauer, G. Karl, R. Reading, M. Schriver; Second Row: R. Conrow, M. Butts, D. Jones, B. Bradfield, E. Kramme, B. Stovall; Third Row: D. Takessian, B. Barnes, I. Wyman, Mr. Keenan, J. Blair, V. Ellington, G. Kuhn.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club sang its way up the scale to new heights this year. Hardly a school activity passed that these members were not invited to participate in. At the annual Christmas concert they were received with much enthusiasm.

A select group of girls from this organization is known as the Girls Trio. These members have been starred not only here in our own school, but over the air, and at other city functions.

However, it has not been all fun, for the members spent many hours under the coaching of Miss Staucey Edwards before they were pronounced successful. One of the main purposes of the club was to add music in the war program, for through it comes a real spiritual relaxation which is essential during such strain and stress. This they have successfully accomplished and to them the school pays tribute.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

This year over one hundred boys were added to the Music Department as a beginners Boys' Glee Club. Under the direction of Miss Straucey Edwards, the Club figured prominently in the annual Christmas Concert, this year dedicated to our parents.

With so much emphasis on physical fitness, these boys got plenty of training besides their gym work. Since good tone quality can be produced only when posture is erect, regular daily exercises to strengthen the back muscles became routine.

Approximately one-third of the School is singing at the present time, and as a result much goodwill and fellowship has resulted.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The fall term opened with Bonnie Replogle wielding the gavel. She was supported by an interested, energetic Council which completed all of its duties and participated in several voluntary drives in an efficient manner.

When the time came to say good-bye to the other departing officers, Chuck Travis, Marian Gressitt, Ina Baxter and Wilma Wilson, Bonnie relinquished the gavel to a mite of a girl named Louise Tandy, who, in her first term, had proved so capable that she was elected to this high office in her second term on the Council.

The new Council was installed and soon was solving school problems quickly and accurately. The other new officers, Ina Baxter, William Doss, Kay Manders, and Girard L'Abbe, also fulfilled their position capably.

National Honor Society members are always chosen with utmost care, on the basis of Character, Scholarship, Leadership and Service. The student members of all the School's organizations and the teachers vote on the candidates; and this year thirty-six outstanding students were selected.

Officers elected for the fall term were John Scopis, president; Louis Calfin, vice-president; and Jeanne Tupper, secretary. Spring term officers were Bob Edmondson, president; Jordan B. Drews, vice-president; and Betty Dorr, secretary.

Much that the Society is today, it owes to Mrs. Ella Adams, its sponsor. All members feel it their duty to live up to the Society's motto—"Noblesse Oblige."

GIRLS' BUSINESS CLUB

The Girls' Business Club enjoyed a most successful year. The first semester officers were Rhoda Henery, president; Meredith Paton, vice-president; Martha Weinert, secretary, and Thelma White, treasurer. The second semester officers were Thelma White, president; Janet St. John, vice-president; Loretta Trygar, secretary, and Ellie Fitzgerald, treasurer. As usual, Miss Ruth Randall, the popular commercial teacher, was sponsor.

The meetings were splendidly attended and greatly enjoyed. The successful drive for old records, later given to the U.S.O., was celebrated with a roller skating party. A gaily colored afghan and scrap books for the soldier boys were made.

R. O. T. C. OFFICERS' CLUB

Every Wednesday after school finds the snappy members of this club assembled in their headquarters to form decisions on promotions, discuss and adopt new and better ideas concerning the R. O. T. C., and plan various special activities.

NORWESTER STAFF

Police Headquarters was alive with the startling news of sabotage. It was reported from a reliable source that there was an underground movement being carried on in Detroit. The Martindale Building, Room 180, was the center of this activity. Strange lights and continuous movement was reported taking place late at night. When the police raided the hideout, they found a tall German, probably the ring leader, diligently working on a strange book and assisted by a strange American named Reason. It was later found that this German, with the short, blond, brush cut, was known in social life as Baron Von Schaufelberg. On close examination of this book, the "Norwester", it was found to have photographs of a large number of people, supposedly "Spies". These "German Spies", it was later found, had contributed more than $134,000 worth of War Bonds and Stamps. Northwestern students are far from being German Spies!

We, these "German Spies", thank the "Norwester" Staff for their splendid work on this book. Until you have had some connection with the editing of a book, you have no idea of how much work is involved in it. The Staff was very ably lead by Al Schaufelberger, a genius if there ever was one. Schauf and his able assistant, Jim Reason, could be seen at almost any time downtown pestering the printer, haunting the engraver, or flirting with Miss ——?—— of Craine's Studio.

"Killer" Kantgias was circulating about school doing everything in his power to sell "Norwesters", and to make salesmen out of some of those students he had on his staff was a job in itself. The job of seeing that all articles in this book were in on time and "perfect" was given to Literary Editor, Pat Butler, and, boy, was that a job! Margaret Kaplanian did a fine job as Stenographic Editor, while Shirley McDonald held up the Advertising end of it and did a fine job in supporting the "Norwester". The Art Department had two very fine gals in there who turned out some very good work. Although new at the business, the "Bettys"—Metzger and Starr, came through like Buster's Gang.

These people lead. Some because of experience, some because of skill, and most because of both. But they only lead. What would an army do with only Generals? The privates are the soldiers that win the war, so don't give all the credit to the Editors. The staff is the very back bone of the book!

MOUNT VERNON HOUSE

Under the guidance of Pat Butler and George Berry, co-presidents, Mount Vernon House has faithfully bought stamps and bonds each week to help buy jeeps and tanks and ammunition for the boys at the front. Our service plaque is already crowded with the names of our members in the armed forces. Weekly, too, we've brought our pennies to buy candy for the boys in appreciation of what they are doing for us. The peppiest House in school could not have shown a better spirit.

Fall term officers were Elaine Baker, president, and Ruth Buker, secretary-treasurer. Doris Carr is the secretary-treasurer for the spring term.

PERSHING HOUSE

When the new co-presidents of Pershing House, Betty Dorr and Edward Desmond, were inducted, each received a portion of the gavel from the past president, James Crawford. Then, each past officer in turn, handed over his office to his successor: Jerry Gurman, the vice-presidency to Jordan Drews, and Edward Desmond, the secretaryship to Thelma Fisher. This is the true spirit of Pershing House, "Share and share alike". Under these able officers and Mr. C. E. Carr, the counselor, the House has led in stamps and bonds, in basketball, scholarship, and other fields of endeavor.

ROOSEVELT HOUSE

Under the leadership of Nick Kantgias, the members of Roosevelt House weathered another war year. Facing courageously the many problems that have arisen, the other officers, Sheila Hird, vice-president; Edna Hartman, secretary; and Ralph Johnson, treasurer, have been a great aid in the Stamp and Bond selling. Roosvelt House successfully published several issues of the "Teddy Gazette", in which the famous exploits of many of the members were depicted.

As the famous radio commentator, Walter Winchell, would say, "Orchids to Miss Clough, the able counselor of 102". She has done a great deal for us and we can never hope to repay her for all the wonderful work she has done.

BETSY ROSS HOUSE

Under the friendly counseling of Miss Doherty, Betsy Ross House completed another happy and successful year with Jean Lee presiding and Charles McCaughan assisting. Several fine assemblies were held with school and patriotic songs aplenty. House members, though more serious than before, maintained their peppy spirits. The many vacant seats constantly bring to mind the boys in the armed forces, and those remaining have faithfully dug into their pockets to buy defense stamps.

Officers for the fall term were Jane Logan, president; Patsy Lim, secretary, and Charles McCaughan, treasurer. The officers for the spring term are Jean Lee, president; Charles McCaughan, vice-president; Shirley McDonald, secretary, and Leslie Lowe, treasurer.

LINCOLN HOUSE

The chief activity of Lincoln House this year was the sale of stamps and bonds, stressed chiefly because it is the only way we can show our deep appreciation to the two hundred boys from this graderoom now in the armed services. We are also proud of the fact that twenty-five percent of our boys are taking R.O.T.C. training and that ten percent of our boys and girls are on the honor roll.

Officers presiding this term are Etheldria Smith, president; Gwendolyn Poole, vice-president; Doris Schoenberg, secretary; and Sue Saunders, treasurer. Fall term officers were James Reason, president; and Jean Proctor, vice-president.

JANE AUSTEN HOUSE

House 204, named after the great writer, Jane Austen, has progressed steadily this year under the leadership of its officers. Its members have taken an active part in school activities and have not neglected their patriotic duties. Three times 204 has been first in the sale of stamps and bonds. Once it was 100%, a goal which it is aiming to achieve regularly.

Two of the students of this house, Malcolm Stamper and Barbara Storgaard, were awarded scholarships to the University of Michigan. Stamper was president of the January uary graduating class and also captain of the football team.

HONOR STUDENTS

The students here pictured have won the envy and admiration of the student body and the praises of the faculty. They are the groups who have earned 18 honor points or more. A few faces are new, but the majority are veteran members.

To be among this select group requires a sufficient amount of gray matter plus hard, tedious work, perseverance, determination, and a driving ambition. Honor points are tallied by results of report card markings, an "A" counting five points, a "B" counting three points, and a "C" counting one point. Besides winning the praises of the entire school, and being able to face card markings with smiling faces, these members can well complete the year with that feeling of a job well done. Absent when the eleventh grade picture was taken, was Jane Baker, an all "A" student.

SWIMMING TEAM

Northwestern's swimmers had it much their own way this year except when their perennial rivals, Western High, defeated them 57-34. Most of the points were scored by Captain Jack Parker and Jim McGurk who, swimming in five events, won seventeen consecutive firsts. Other letter winners were Crawford, Brining and Cruden who developed his style enough to become the team's leading diver.

The spring program of meets included military swimming skills, such as swimming under water and swimming with heavily loaded packs.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Mal Stamper captained this year's team through a very successful season. After bowing 13-0 to U. of D. High in the opening game, the Colts finished a difficult schedule undefeated. The high point of the season was the 6-0 win over a highly favored Mackenzie team. Here the linemen smothered the Stags' passing attack, while Don Schwalm drove through late in the game for the touchdown.

Charles Nystie was named All State Tackle. He, Bob Vorpagel and Mal Stamper were the outstanding linemen; Hal Pink, Don Schwalm and Dick Dresser were the backfield men who drew the cheers. The team finished second in the west side race.

BASEBALL TEAM

Although this article is written well in advance of the actual playing season, early practice sessions indicate that the "Colts" will put a strong "nine" on the field this year. Coach Sam Bishop has an almost complete team of lettermen returning. The pitching should be good with such veterans as Jack Ashley, Alan Barkley and Jack Dixon doing the hurling. Joe Holt will be back on the receiving end, and the infield and outfield will be studded with such experienced players as Ron Teasley, Hal Pink, Dick Dresser, Jim Hammond and Frank Bielman. The much discussed "dead" ball will doubtless make for lower scoring and tighter fielding, but we are confident that our "Colts" will adapt themselves to the situation, and we wish them "good luck".

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Unable to beat their ancient rival, Cooley, in three dual meets and in the west side championships, Northwestern finally triumphed over them in the city meet, the score being Southwestern first with a 32, Northwestern 71, and Cooley 76. At the close of the season, the lettermen, Bob Edmondson, James Timm, Alan Finn, Romeo Baker, and John Keramedjian, met and elected James Timm captain. George Kuhn's ineligibility was an unexpected blow, but the new men came through in good style. Their showing testifies to the ability of their new coach, Mr. James Russell. Bob Edmondson set a new mark of 9:41:8 for two miles on the new Palmer Park course.

First Row: H. Pink, R. Dresser, J. Ashley, J. Holt, R. Teasley. Second Row: R. Galvin, H. Ramsey, J. Hammond, F. Bielman, R. Knight, J. Dixon. Third Row: Coach Bishop, J. Damiani, C. Ong, H. First Row: R. Teasley, H. Pink, A. Finn, A. Avadikian, coach J. Demaree. Second Row: L. Wheeler, H. Ramsey, J. Steele, D. Dresser, B. Replogle.

BASKETBALL TEAMS

John Damian, Joe Evans and Ralph Fennell are the top players of a 10th Grade Team that went through four games undefeated. Cooley, Southwestern, Chadsey and Wilbur Wright all fell before them. Much of their success is the result of James Russell's expert coaching.

The 11th Grade Team went through the season undefeated. "Sparked" by Dick Dresser, this quintet smothered all competition. It was a high scoring outfit with such other stars as Hal Pink, Ron Teasley and Alan Finn. And this is by no means the end. What a 12th Grade aggregation it will be next year!

Although losing several games, the 12th Grade Team did very well. Working with inexperienced material, his time divided between two teams, Coach James Demaree produced a combination that showed steady improvement and lost the last two games by only two points. The Team "clicked" because of the fine co-ordination of all players, Van Wagoner, Barkley, Biehlman, Dixon and Captain Hammond, who was also high scorer.

First Row: B. Blanchard, A. Price, D. Bullington, J. Demaree. Second Row: J. Van Wagoner, J. Fussner, A. Schaufelberger.

First Row: M. Weinert, L. Johnston, P. Adams, M. Kaplanian, T. Gach. Second Row: D. Benish, M. Chalapis, M. Truhan, J. Proctor, G. Gibson.

BOYS' TENNIS TEAM

It is a tribute to the popularity of tennis that there is to be a season at all this year. Because of war conditions, it is difficult to get all materials. The Colts have a team that is well fortified with top-flight, experienced players. Among those returning from last year are John Van Wagoner, Don Racine, Al Schaufelberger, Alvin Price, and Jim Reason. Coach Demaree will again be on hand to help with his valuable experience and knowledge. This year's Colts will have to "go some" to duplicate last year's record, but we are sure they can do it.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

The tennis team began a good season this year with all the girls out in fine trim. With a line up of four schools for competition, Captain Margie Truhn set a fine example of sportsmanship for her team.

With only three veterans back again this year, the team started almost from scratch. The returning members were Pat Adams, Minerva Chalapis and Jeanne Proctor. Lois Johnston, Grace Gibson, Margaret Kaplanian, Theodora Gach and Lois Hilgendorf were the girls who joined the squad.

Mrs. Mildred Dunn is the faculty sponsor to whom the girls give their thanks for fine coaching ability.

First Row: V. Jagers, E. Rea, H. Sewell, B. Mickens, L. Graves, H. Wolfe, E. Hanifan; Second Row: O. Hurst, E. McLymont, M. Houghton, B. King, B. Reeder, C. Thompson, A. Hall, M. Maddox; Third Row: Miss Watson, G. Whitfield, F. Hawkins, G. Ramsay, S. Gordon, D. Ford, G. Mitchell; Fourth Row: G. Agnew, A. Worthy.

First Row: G. Archbold, P. Beyreis, E. McLymont; Second Row: R. Mawson, H. Archbold, J. Simon.

GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM

With only four seasoned players returning, the Girls' Hockey Team encountered the usual difficulties which beset any team that is new and unaccustomed to playing together. Although lacking in experience, under the coaching of Miss Elsie Watson, the girls played a fast game and showed plenty of enthusiasm and good spirit. Of the five games played, but one was won. However, the Reserve Team forecast better things to come next year by winning four of its five games. Yes, things are "looking up", and prospects are bright for next year. Bernice Mickens was captain of the team.

GIRLS' GOLF TEAM

The girls' golf team was again under the expert guidance of Mrs. Prudentia Carty. She coached the team to a succesesful season, and much credit is due her.

Pat Beyreis' good play in the matches shows that she had practiced well. A great deal of credit should be given Ruth Mawson, Helen Archbold, Grace Archbold and Dorothy Block.

The team had matches with Central, Highland Park, and Southeastern, and then played in the city finals.

All in all, the girls really did a fine job, and we hope that they will do as well next season.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

This year the girls' basketball team again fought their way through a difficult schedule. Under the guiding hand of Mrs. Mildred Dunn, the team went far. Captain Nadine Milley had good support from Hazel Tickle, Althea Worthy, Ruth Mawson and Minnie Cherry.

The highlight of the season came when the boys' basketball team played the girls. The fellows dressed as girls, and although the sacred rules of basketball were broken, it was really a fine game. The N Club and the G.A.A., co-sponsors of the game, had a healthy pile of "mazuma" as proceeds from the big turn-out of Northwestern students.

GIRLS' SWIMMING TEAM

The members of the girls' swimming team, captained by Edna Hartman, once again plunged into a new season of work and fun. This year the team practiced diligently on stunt swimming until they attained the agility of dolphins. They learned how to make cart wheels and how to form other water patterns. On May 21, the team and representatives of the swimming class, under the friendly and capable sponsoring of Miss Elsie Watson, put on a aquacade. At this affair the members performed a mock marriage ceremony, a three ring circus, and a buggy race, besides other remarkable feats. Music for the aquacade was supplied by one of the local bands.

D. Hurst, A. Worthy, L. Hunter, H. Tickle, B. McClymont, N. Milley, P. Burt, R. Mawson, M. Cherry, M. Lemons, coach Dunn.

First Row: Miss Watson, J. St. John, B. Jilbert, M. Vartabedian, M. Jilbert, E. Fitzgerald, A. Mackie, L. Trygar. Second Row: L. Johnson, J. Wilson, E. Baker, B. Larkin, G. Maas, A. Mackenzie, J. Munson, J. Lumey. Third Row: P. O'Hagan, M. J. Houghten, J. Proctor, E. Hartman, E. Duff, D. Benish, D. Marquardt, M. Draper.

DISSERTATION ON A ROAST WEENIE

In recent weeks there has been much discussion about weenie roasts. The general conclusion, I am sorry to report, is that these outings are not only useless, but even destructive. This opinion has been formed by some of our greatest minds, but it seems that none of them has ever been close to a hot dog, roasted or otherwise. (When I say "roasted", I refer to the hot dogs, not the owners of the minds.) Because the Committee for the Investigation of Weenie Roasts is so greatly misinformed, something should be done to enlighten them. I, then, shall champion the cause of the lowly weiner.

Let us imagine that we are invited to a weenie roast. This is just plain wishful thinking on our part, for we don't know anyone who would invite us. For this reason, we shall hold our own shindig. There is a great deal of enjoyment to be derived from the purchasing of the essentials, such as weenies, a roast, and a bottle opener. This is especially true if you have nothing to do with it. Once having obtained the fundamentals, let us venture forth on our little voyage. Our destination lies about ten (10) miles distant; therefore, there is a definite need for some mode of transportation. Having called roll, we discover that there are twenty-six people and two cars.

Now that we have arrived at our destination, the roast is the thing. I don't like roasted hot dogs. In fact, you've guessed it; I don't even like hot dogs. With this thought foremost, I unwrap my portable nine course dinner, which I always carry with me. (Semper paratus; except February which has twenty-nine.) This creates a state of utter confusion, which was admitted to the Union in 1807, and we all decide to play football. During the next twenty minutes, eight people are disabled, which makes the trip home much more comfortable.

One of the more thoughtful members of our little clan has brought a portable victrola, victable portrola, vactable portfolio, which plays all the latest records. It also has a tendency to repeat-to repeat-to repeat. However, those of you who can dance, may pass many enjoyable hours this way, as far as I am concerned; while those of us who do not dance, may simply pass.

There is still another pastime peculiar to the weenie roast, that of sailing flattened marshmallows. The proceedure is something like this: Take one mashed marshmallow and throw it violently into the air and then forget about it. Next, take your date, or anyone handy, and look for the marshmallow. You'd be surprised how many people are lost this way. Now, to get back to the people whom we left dancing to the portable victrola, victable por—; come now, let's not go through that again.

These poor souls, except Harry who is a heel, have given vent to their emotional energy to such an extent that all of my vitamin pills are gone. Also, all of the hot dogs are gone, and, after a few minutes of deliberation with myself, I decide that we should be gone too.

At this point, I am confronted with a serious problem. There are still twenty-six people and two cars; consequently, there is still a definite need for some mode of transportation.

Once home, I find that everyone has had a very good time; that is, except Harry, who never has a good time. So you see, kiddies, that the weenie roast is a very important custom. For this reason, I am sure that on next election day, November 4, you will all vote "YES" on the question, "Shall the weenie roast be perpetuated?"

ROBERT ROSE

SUCCESS

To you graduates — you who have already earned a generous measure of success — we offer our sincere congratulations. We hope that for many years you will again and again enjoy the photographic portraits we were privileged to make for this book and that the training you have received will bring you new and greater successes to make the future truly happy for all of you.

F O O T B A L L G A M E

Dear Harry:

It is certainly too bad that you were unable to attend Saturday's football game, for it was really a joy to behold. It is for that reason that I am taking this opportunity to let you know what you missed. Of course, the official report will be in the papers, but they may miss one or two important points.

To begin with, I am a bit vague on the events of the first half, because I didn't arrive until the second half. However, I did manage to learn that the score, at the end of the first half, was six for one side, and nothing for the other. As a matter of fact, it might have been the other way around; I'm not sure. Between the halves, everybody got up and walked around the field twice. As a result of this, nobody had a good seat when he returned. I, for one, didn't have any seat, so I didn't see much of the second half, either.

Aside from the game on the playing field, there were several other games going on in the stands. One of these, I later learned, was an intricate little thing called "Pass Amos". This game interested me to such an extent, that I inquired into its history. It seems that, once upon a time, there was a little jerk by the name of Amos. (Hay uno pequeno gerko quien se llama Amoso, as the Spanish say it.) At the various football games, he made himself so obnoxious, that the spectators in the top row of the stands, where Amos always sat, passed him, hand to hand in a manner none too delicate, to the spectators in the bottom row. The latter passed him back to the top again, and this action was repeated until the fans lost track of Amos entirely. Most likely he was stuffed under the bleacher seats and was eventually swept up with the rest of the rubbish.

So much for the history behind this popular pastime; now for the modern version. In this case, the subject's name does not have to be Amos. In fact, it is not even requisite that the subject have a name. He is firmly grasped by someone in the top row and thrown through the air at someone in the bottom row, who, in retaliation, (or any other language), heaves him back to his original position. These operations are repeated until the victim's neck is broken and an army of first-aiders descend upon him in a deliberate attempt to seal his doom.

Another interesting sidelight of football is the cheer leader. It is his function to direct the vocal efforts of the crowd in such a way that they will be most effective. He boldly takes his stance in front of the fans and the cheering begins. It is inspiring and gratifying to hear the unanimous response to his actions, as the crowd shouts, "Down in front". This is not the desired result, however; so, undaunted, the cheer leader tells the audience in no uncertain terms that they are to help the team to victory with cheer number forty-two. Nobody knows this cheer, so it must be explained. At the count of four, everybody must rise and count from twenty to seven, and back again to twenty, by two's. As anyone can see, this will put the "old fight" back into our team. As the cheer leader counts to four, everybody responds at once, and the stadium is filled with the supervised outlet of emotions, of which any cheer leader might be proud. Yes, at the count of four, every single person in the stands emits, boisterously, the school battle cry, "Down in front". This unexpected reaction so disheartens our little leader of the cheer, that he goes the way of Amos. Of course, you remember what that is, but if you don't, it's your own fault for not paying attention.

Well, Harry, that's about all that happened, except for the game itself, which looked like all the others to me. If, perhaps, there is some little detail which you do not quite understand, don't come to me with your problems; I'm sick of the whole business.

Dubiously yours,

Bob.

WAR EMERGENCY COURSES

Uncle Sam Needs You

Right now it would seem to be the part of good citizenship to put aside long-range educational planning and train for immediate service. This is almost an obligation.

Lack of properly trained help is hampering the war effort—over 700 needed in one agency alone. Stenographers, typists, calculating machine operators, accountants, etc.

Special streamlined courses for men and women preparing for War Emergency positions. Courses require 8 weeks, 16 weeks, and 20 weeks, depending on content. Phone CA. 1205 for catalog.
